

for agents, leaders, and 4-H members as related to Community 4-H work.

II. PROBLEM

On the basis of the situation there existed:

(1) A lack of full appreciation and understanding on the part of the public and some extension workers for doing 4-H Club work by the community method, (2) a lack of understanding of literature and teaching aids developed for implementing the Community 4-H Club idea, (3) a lack of sufficient quantity and quality of literature and teaching aids developed by subject-matter specialists and use in doing Community 4-H Club work, and (4) a lack of developed and organized ways to keep in touch with 4-H members who were not in organized Community 4-H Clubs.

III. PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Based on the problems the following objectives were set forth.

- A. To develop in extension agents a fuller appreciation and understanding for Community 4-H Club work and necessary knowledge and skills to develop leaders to do it.
- B. To develop in extension specialist an appreciation and understanding for the place and need of subject-matter literature designed for Community 4-H Club work.
